Training Management Made Easy

Tracking employee training is a big responsibility, and making sure your people get the training they need becomes increasingly complex as the number of employees and locations you're managing continues to grow. You need to define training requirements for every job and work function across each of your facilities, and track each individual's training completion and performance. Depending on your industry and operations, your employees may require training across dozens of EHS and HR topics.

The VelocityEHS Training Management solution gives you the tools to schedule trainings, document and verify training completion, and deliver tailored training content based on individual employee roles and requirements. Additionally, built-in email notifications remind employees and managers when training deadlines and certification dates are upcoming or past due.

Our software streamlines employee training and evaluation, and allows you to easily administer training programs across your entire organization using a single, cloud-based system.

What You Don't Know Can Hurt You

You simply can't afford to give your employees anything but the most complete, up-to-date EHS training. OSHA, Health Canada, HSE, EU-OSHA, Safe Work Australia, and other regulatory agencies strictly enforce training requirements for employees.

Inadequate training leaves you vulnerable to substantial fines and penalties, and puts your employees and your organization at risk from any number of workplace hazards. At the same time, a training management system that's too complex or difficult to use wastes time and energy, hurts productivity, and undermines your safety culture.

The VelocityEHS Training Management solution gives you the visibility and control to implement a best-in-class EHS training program within your organization that is focused on prevention, and takes the guesswork out of training compliance.
