Safety Meetings Made Easy

Tracking Joint Health & Safety Committee and pre-job safety meetings is one of the most important and difficult tasks in safety management, and without an effective tool for managing your meetings from scheduling to follow-up, you face a number of daunting and potentially frustrating tasks. VelocityEHS offers the easiest way to keep all of your teams and safety meetings on track.

VelocityEHS gives you the control to manage safety meetings more effectively. You'll be able to quickly and easily plan meeting agendas and carry over topics from previous meetings, streamlining issue resolution and reporting. Using email and calendar integration, our solution ensures attendees are present, meeting minutes are captured and distributed, and follow-up tasks are assigned and tracked.

Traditional ways of managing safety meetings using multiple databases, spreadsheets, or paper training records are costly and inefficient. With VelocityEHS, you can organize and manage safety meetings all from one centralized system, and steal back some time to focus on your other EHS priorities.

The Heart of Your Safety Culture

Frequent and effective safety meetings are shown to reduce severe incidents and injuries in the workplace. Additionally, safety meetings are required in jurisdictions throughout the U.S., Canada, Europe, and Australia. Most importantly, however, effective safety meetings provide the foundation for a strong workplace safety culture.

By comparison, ineffective meetings undermine employee morale and compromise your entire safety program. Employees disengage when there's a lack of organization, transparency, and results. The challenge lies in maintaining the quality of your safety meetings week after week across every department and location.

VelocityEHS helps drive employee engagement in your safety meetings with automated scheduling and coordination, real-time tracking of action items and assignments, and by offering employees proof that they have made positive contributions to your workplace safety culture.
