

Office Ergonomics Services

Dedicated Support for a Comprehensive and Efficient Process

VelocityEHS Office Ergonomics software helps employers manage both traditional and home-office ergonomics. Pairing this software solution with dedicated, professional support makes your office ergonomics process both comprehensive and efficient, ensuring the right steps are taken and freeing up more time for the tasks that matter most in keeping your workforce healthy and productive.

Ergonomics Made Easy

Whether you have employees in the office, working from home, or a combination of both, our team of certified professional ergonomists can help.

REMOTE CONSULTATIONS

One-to-one employee consultations, conducted remotely, provide increased awareness, coaching tips, and detailed solutions.

IMPLEMENTATION WORKSHOP

Launch your ergonomics software with the guidance of an instructor-led workshop. Make progress on recognizing and prioritizing challenges, implementing effective solutions, and using data to manage the process.

MANAGED SERVICE

Monthly calls with an ergonomist familiar with your process help to identify meaningful trends in data over time, and help leaders act on next steps to drive the success of the ergonomics process.

ON-DEMAND CONSULTING

With one-time or recurring consulting projects, our experts can help you solve problems and expedite improvements on anything from equipment selection to process audits.

Musculoskeletal disorders, such as back strain and carpal tunnel syndrome, account for one third of workplace injury and illness costs. And these days, 42% of the U.S. workforce is working remotely—many without proper guidance or setup. Our team of experts has experience in launching and sustaining world-class ergonomics processes to keep your workforce safe.
